PRAVACANA
The Journal of the Bhiksu University of Sri Lanka
GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS

1.Criteria for Publication

For publication in PRAVACANA (ISSN 2345-9999), a manuscript must produce strong theoretical or empirical contributions to the fields of Buddhist Studies, Humanities and Social Sciences.

Authors who are interested in publishing with PRAVACANA should strive to produce original, interesting, valuable, insightful, and important pieces of research. The acceptance of the article for publication highly depends upon the originality, validity, relevancy, significance, reliability and timeliness. Submissions, which are not up to the aims and standards laid down by the PRAVACANA, will not be accepted.

2. Review Process

Manuscripts submitted will be scrutinized by the editorial of board of PRAVACANA and two external reviewers will review the scrutinized articles. Reviewed articles will be returned to authors for revising purposes with reviewers' comments. The maximum cycle of reviewing is three times only.

3. Manuscript Preparation

Authors are required to prepare manuscripts according to the guidelines for the authors of PRAVACANA. Submissions, which are not adhere to the guidelines, will be returned to the respective authors for re-submission. These re-submitted articles, which are in line with the guidelines, will be sent for reviewing purposes after scrutiny.

4. Publication of Accepted Articles

Manuscripts should be typed in a 12-point, Times New Roman font or UNAbhaya font or formal fonts for other languages like Tamil, Chinese, and Japanese. They must be 1.5-spaced (including tables, and figures). This information should be justified. References and appendices should be in a 10-point relevant font and should be left aligned. Manuscript length should be between 6 to 12 typed pages inclusive of references, tables and figures.

5. Structure of the Article

The article should comprise of an Abstract in English with less than 250 words including five keywords, Introduction, Research Problem, Research Objectives, Research

Methodology, Results and Discussion, Conclusion and Recommendations including References. Though it is not compulsory, when and where necessary, a brief literature review and conceptual presentations can be incorporated. All pages should be numbered.

The principal parts of the manuscript are the title of the article, the author details (surname with initials or full name, designation, institute, email address, telephone number and the ORCID), the body of the article, and references. The title of the article should appear at the top of the first page, In the articles written in Sinhala or any other language, the title should appear in English too. Title/s should be centered, and bold-faced in 16 font size. Author(s) Details (surname with initials, designation, institute, email address, telephone number and the ORCID) should be mentioned below the title of the article in 12 font Size and centred.

Articles written in Sinhala should adhere to a standardised format, which includes providing an English translation of the Title, Abstract & Keywords. These should be positioned before the abstract in Sinhala within the article.

6. Tables and Figures

The latest Harvard Style should be followed for inserting Tables and Figures. Any tables or figures must be numbered with the proper titles of the Table/ figure(s) at the top. If data, figures, and models were extracted from other sources, such should be noted below the table with due information.

The figures should be clear. Please follow Harvard Style.

7. Percentage of Plagiarism and AI-Generated Content

Ensure the work maintains originality by limiting plagiarism to 8% through proper citation and paraphrasing, while keeping AI-detected content below 5% by incorporating natural, human-like language and unique insights.

8. Citations & References

The latest Harvard Referencing Style should be followed for Citations & References.

9. Article submissions and correspondence

Article submissions and correspondence with the Pravacana Journal can be directed to pravacana@busl.ac.lk